Dorch accepted the money on behalf of the Governor's Disaster Relief Fund which is passing out checks to area residents who suffered losses in the flood. The donation was presented by Mr. Jim Mitchell, on behalf of the Army Aviation Federal Credit Union at Ft. Rucker.

The credit union set up accounts to take donations for this purpose and added thevondors fees from a recent auto sale held for the members. A check was also presented earlier to help the flood victims of Dale County.

According to Commission Chairman Billy Egerton, if the waiver is granted and Cooffee County is allowed to construct the regional landfill, the potential solid waste crisis should be averted.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

Something else positive came out of the flood . . . or more accurately from the flood clean-up. Postmaster Bill Bullard found a government check dated 5-8-1974 in the amount of $83.60. It was made out to Robert D. and Fannie L. Pugh from the Treasury of the United States. Bullard said the check had slipped between the post office boxes and the wall and was found during cleaning of the building. He immediately contacted Mrs. Pugh with the check. We salute our loyal postal workers. They have performed like professionals following the flood when often it would have been easier to just not do. The check is an example. They could have trashed it and none would have ever known any better. Salute!

The election is over . . . at least the first round. We have not been in touch with the gossip of the political campaigns as much as in the past and kinda missed the chatter. The best we can tell, there were very few surprises in the first primary. Being a bit uninformed by the experts, we did find a few surprises ourselves. We didn't expect Wes Laird to do as well as he did against Crum Foshee. Nor did we expect the number three showing of Jim Sullivan in Attorney General race. He has run twice before statewide and did well in both those races. The Democrat race for the nomination in the governor's race was thought to be a four way toss-up and therefore the two in the run-off didn't surprise many folks. We still find very little excitement in either candidate, but then maybe we got so used to the George Wallace years and/or the battle of four years ago. Those campaigns were colorful and exciting with something fresh happening every day (and folks we all seemed to like it). It got out of hand four years ago and this time the candidates seemed to be walking on eggs and afraid to break a single one. Frankly, we prefer today's campaigning, but it doesn't excite the voters enough to get large voter turnouts.

Elba schools . . . we have them and it seems we have a million opinions on how to run them. If your list of different opinions is a bit short of this, just come by and we will pass on a few to add to your list. Folks have given us an unlimited number of ideas. In fact at the last school board meeting we counted no less than six opinions on where the schools should be located. That was just the opinions which had been expressed to us on the streets and in the coffee shops by people who were later at the board meeting. We need to be true Americans and tried-and-true Elba folks and continue voicing our opinions. However, let's voice them about things yet to be decided, and not waste energy or brain power debating about things already over or decisions already made. The decisions on how to operate the schools right after the flood were made in "the heat of the battle" and besides that is all over now. The site selected for the new schools was frankly not our first choice. In fact board members had different opinions at first. We voiced our opinion to the board members but were given what was considered logical reasons for going in another direction. We accepted the logic. That decision has been made and when the buildings are completed we predict they will be a major source of pride among Elba folks. We will take relatives and other visitors "to see our new school". The folks designing the complex say the selected property "has character" . . . whatever that means. We will see when the all new complex is completed and our children are going to classes there.

We were asked what other projects we could suggest in addition to those we mentioned last week. There is the need to light a fire under the Alabama Highway director and get the contract let for the long promised straightening on Highway 84, at the end of Davis Street. They have already bought all the property and the plans are drawn and completed. Highway 84 has been a headache continually. We need to get this road 4-laned through Elba and NOT down 134. Then someone needs to do some planning on solid waste disposal/recycling. This is going to become a major concern right away and we ain't ready. Don't forget the bypass. The benefits of this road are clear during the days following the flood. We need to think about completing it around to the New Brockton Highway. A few more hours of high water and the main bridge across Pea River would have washed out and we would have been in a mess for months. An additional crossing will enhance us in several ways, including all Elba folks being able to "reach out and touch one another" without a thirty mile drive around a washed out bridge. Also remember, we have neighbors who can use your help getting out of the mud.

We had an ad for lost dogs two weeks ago. Would like to take credit for getting back, but Charles Ellis said "the dogs came home".

THANK YOU

To the Elba City School System, teachers, pupils, workers and everyone involved. Thank you for your courage, patience, cooperation and good work under very difficult conditions. We appreciate you.

Letters To The Editor

J. Ferrin Cox, Publisher

Dear Ferrin,
Two nights ago I received one of the most tragic telephone calls of my life. It was from my best friend, who between nearly uncontrollable sobs, told me that the man accused of murdering her father had been released from jail. Probably the most unbelievable part of this shocking news was the group of Elba citizens who posted bond for Owen Ziglar. I am appalled that Elaine Bullard, Dr. Donald Crook, Richard Jacobs, Celia English Brown, Inez Beck, and Cecil Beck, would so callously arrange for the release of this man, charged with the shooting death of Edward Kelley.

Less than three months ago, my heart went out to all the citizens of Elba in the tragedy they suffered from a life-threatening flood. Today, the sorrow that I felt has lessened, in knowing that such a lack of compassion for the family of Edward Kelley has been so totally disregarded, in this case by several persons who themselves and their children were supposedly friends of the family.

This violent crime took the life of one of the kindest men I've ever known. As I became a fixture in the Kelley home during our high school years and later, I marvelled at Edward's boundless love for his children and the granddaughter that was truly the brightest star of his life. My heart goes out to each of them, as well as to the Ziglar children, who also know the incredible pain of having a parent violently and senselessly taken away.

City Clerk Pat Boothe said Monday that sign up for the federal project to fund the tearing down of flood damaged buildings has received only six applications from property owners.

Boothe explained that the danger of not applying for this assistance is that if a structure is later declared a health hazard and the owner is forced to remove the building, it will be totally at the expense of the owner.

Anyone with any questions about this project can contact Mrs. Boothe at City Hall.

BOARD

committee, Butts suggested. Along with these citizens, Butts wanted members of the student government association to also be appointed to the committee.

The board took no action on this request and members later explained their reasoning. The board members are open to the public at all times except during executive sessions to discuss the good name and character of an individual. They noted that such committee members would still be asked to attend these sessions by Alabama law. Furthermore any appointing of committees to attend meetings could leave citizens thinking they could attend unless they were on such a committee, plus committees of teachers are already scheduled to meet and make recommendations for the new buildings. Teachers and other interested citizens have already been visiting recently built schools in Alabama and Florida to gather ideas to be used in the Elba schools.

Butts read from copies of several letters that had been written by officials involved in inspecting the school buildings since the flood of March 17.

A letter from the U. S. Department of Education declared the buildings repairable with damages of about $1.8 million.

A letter from the Alabama Building Commission considered the damages much worse and stated it would be more economical in the long run to build new buildings than to attempt repairs on the existing buildings. Their estimates were that the damages exceeded $8 million.

Butts referred to another inspection of the buildings by a private engineering firm hired by the State Department of Education. He acknowledged he hadn't seen this letter, however a representative of this newspaper has seen the report and the estimate of repairs in it are lower than those of the state building commission, but only a small percent.

Elba school officials are working with the federal authorities to get their estimates closer to the other two before a settlement is made.

Butts was critical of several decisions made right after the flood, concerning the schools. He questioned why offers to use county schools, Enterprise schools or ESJC facilities were not accepted. Several of these had offered to allow Elba students to attend classes in the afternoon after regular studies had completed their studies.

Butts also questioned why an offer by the Baptist Association to furnish hot meals to the students was not accepted.

Following Butts' prepared statement, Superintendent Lamar Foley said some offers were made to use other facilities, but a quick poll of some students, parents and teachers indicated they didn't want the bussing of students long distances every day and wanted to remain together, hence the decision was made to establish the temporary school.

Foley also acknowledged an offer was made by the Baptist Association, but due to the huge amounts donated foods the school had already received, the offer was not accepted.

An explanation by Butts of how a Texas firm is preserving and cleaning many courthouse records also included a question of why they were not hired to preserve the permanent records of the schools as well as the library books.

Foley explained that the permanent records were cleaned but the high cost of cleaning made it too expensive to use the firm on a large scale. He later explained that the cost of cleaning library books could easily exceed the cost of new books and the cleaned books would still show flood damage.

Oggs opened his questions with the one about "What are the options regarding the location of a new school system for Elba?"

Foley responded with what Lindsey had already said in that the board had already voted to build on the site on Highway 84.

Many of the 41 questions on Oggs' list were not asked because they had been answered previously.

He did get a yes answer to a question of the board's authority to condemn land. He was told however that the majority of the members of the board didn't want to condemn land if any could be found without that method.

The Mulberry Heights school would be to expensive to repair for temporary use, Foley said. Also Foley said he would not take the responsibility for the safety of students by putting them back in the flood damaged school buildings.

The possibility of leaving the football stadium at the present location.

Ron Smith, Director, Coffee County Department of Human Resources, states that he has appointed Mrs. Myrna Rhoades as Community Resource Specialist to work with Elba flood victims. Mrs. Rhoades will spend most of her time in Elba assisting flood victims in securing necessary aid, according to Smith.

Mr. Smith further stated that Mrs. Rhoades will work very closely with Elba city officials as well as various agencies to coordinate the orderly delivery of goods and services to those persons devastated by the flood that hit Elba on March 17, 1990.

Former Elba resident killed in Pike County

A former resident of Elba, Ricky Terrell Goodwin, age 21, died as a result of a gunshot wound to the chest at approximately 3:25 a.m. Sunday morning, June 3, 1990.

According to Pike County Sheriff Harold Anderson, Goodwin was pronounced dead at the scene of the shooting which occurred at Whitehead's Grocery located on Pike County Road 41 in the Spring Hill community.

Witnesses at the scene, approximately 20 to 25 individuals, informed authorities that Goodwin and Ronnie Robert Smith, age 39, of Jack, Alabama, got into a verbal argument in front of the store which has an on-premise retail liquor license.

Reportedly, Goodwin struck Smith in the face with his fist and the two began fighting. During the struggle, Smith allegedly pulled a pistol and shot Goodwin in the chest with a 22-caliber weapon.

Social News Sawyer - Childree Wed In Enterprise

Ashley Elizabeth Sheffield

Ashley Elizabeth Sheffield Named Little Miss Brundidge

Ashley Elizabeth Sheffield won and Debbie Sheffield. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Helms of Brundidge and the City of Brundidge during the National Peanut Festival activities scheduled for this fall.

Ashley is the daughter of Danny Mrs. Houghton P. Boutwell of Elba.

The First United Methodist Church of Enterprise was the setting on April 21, 1990, for the high noon ceremony uniting in marriage Ms. Janet Childree and Dr. Samuel Fleming Sawyer.

The Rev. Walter Ellis officiated the wedding.

Ms. Childree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judge Howard Childree of Ozark. Dr. Sawyer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Felix Sawyer of New Brockton.

The church was beautifully decorated for the ceremony in shades of wine and rose. Two large floral arrangements of white gladioli, mums, pink peonies, wine-tinted roses, and baby's breath adorned each side of the altar.

Similar floral designs enhanced the beauty of two spiral candelabra placed on either side of a three-tiered candelabrum which was centered behind the altar. Boston fern, the unity candle, and pew markers completed the setting.

Wedding music included trumpet soloists, a trumpet trio, a vocal duo, and a vocal soloist.

Organ/pianist was Mrs. Mary Alice Martin. Trumpet soloists were Scott Robertson who performed Mozart's "Alla Cuius," and Paul Loui who performed Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." Trisha Janasy and Scott Robertson performed a vocal duo, "My Treasure."

Following the seating of the mothers, soloist Suzanne Sawyer sang "Wind Beneath My Wings," and later during the lighting of the unity candle she performed Bach's "Ave Maria."

The wedding processional was Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" and the recessional was the theme from Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee." Both were performed by the trumpet trio accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Martin.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was beautifully gowned in a white satin dress featuring a Sabrina neckline and cathedral train. The front of the bodice was heavily beaded and tapered to a point at the waist while the heart-shaped open back tapered to a fan bow at the waist. The long, leg-of-mutton sleeves were tucked with iridescent sequins and seed pearls.

A full skirt swept back into the cathedral train which was embroidered with panels of silk tulle lace, sequins, and seed pearls. Her filigree-edged veil was attached to a braided pearl headband. It featured a beautiful beaded flower on one side from which fell strands of tiny silk flowers and pearls. A fingertip veil flowed from beneath the pouf.

She carried a cascade of white roses and lily of the valley arranged around a wine-tinted orchid and accented with white, wine, and pink ribbons, pearls, and ivory.

The bride's matron of honor was Mrs. Jacqueline Colianni of Dallas, Texas.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Suzanne Sawyer, sister-in-law of the groom, of Enterprise, and Ms. Elizabeth Sheppard of Raleigh, N.C. They wore tea-length dresses of wine taffeta which featured bateau necklines, three-quarter length puffed sleeves and dropped waists accented with a side bow.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Elizabeth Mock of Daleville, Mrs. Laura Reynolds of Ozark, and Mrs. Jonnie Crutchfield of Hartford.

Their tea-length dresses of rose silk featured round necklines, three-quarter-length sleeves, and dropped yokes at the waistlines.

The bridesmaids and attendants wore matching hair combs fashioned of white, wine, and pink roses. They carried arm bouquets of white, wine, and pink roses arranged around a wine-tinted orchid.

Flowers girls were Misses Elizabeth Jackson and Blair Glover, goddaughters of the groom. They wore wine taffeta dresses similar to that of the bridesmaids and carried white wicker baskets of white, wine, and pink roses.

The groom's father served as best man.

Groomsmen were Dr. Dan Sawyer, brother of the groom; Joe Sawyer, cousin of the groom, both of Enterprise; Russell Fleming, cousin of the groom, of Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Gregory Glover of Knoxville, Tenn., and Dr. Cary Jackson of Ocean Springs, Miss.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Sawyer

Guests were treated to a delicious array of cakes, punch, champagne, and cocktail foods.

The elegant wedding cake sat atop a lighted fountain and featured a walking bride and groom before a cathedral window.

The cake was served by Mrs. Norma Mitchell of Ozark and Ms. Dixie Cirio of Dallas, Texas, sisters of the bride.

The groom's cake was fashioned on the nautical theme of sailing. The Sanctuary was in a twilight glow. An elegant fan-shaped flower arrangement provided the background for the ceremony. An arched candelabra with white burning tapers added light and warmth to the setting. Two heart shaped candelabras with flickering tapers, embedded with jade green ferns, were placed on either side of the altar area. Drooping groups of Boston ferns and green palms, recessed at floor level, completed the formal backdrop.

The railings to the bridal entrance were touched with white bows and greenery.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Baker. Mrs. Bobby Baker and Mr. Rob Hudson sang "Don't Know Much" as a duet. Miss Karen Davis of Andalusia sang, "We Are One" after the lighting of the unity candle.

Mrs. Baker played the traditional Bridal Chorus for the processional and the "Wedding March" for the recessional.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal designers gown of imported white bridal satin embellished with re-embroidered Lyon lace. The portrait neckline and low V back were outlined with hand-beaded scalloped lace in roses and tiny leaf pattern. Tiny pearls, bridal iridescents and crystals adorned the neckline and fitted bodice which was overlaid with lace appliques. A focal point at the center of the bodice was rose medallion from which extended strands of pearls, bugle beads and crystal tear-drops.

The Elizaebethan sleeves tapered at the elbow to fitted points of lace over soft English embroidered net. Pearls and iridescents were sprinkled over the lace with strands of bugle beads and crystal tear-drops highlighting the elbow.

The full skirt fell from a lace edged basque waistline. Lyon lace accented the hemline which swept to a cathedral length train. A large bow of satin, lace and pearls enlivened the bustled butterfly peplum. Four appliques graced the back of the train and formed a medallion of lace smothered in pearls.

The finger-tip length veil of silk bridal illusion had a rolled edge gathered to a profile band of silk flowerettes and iridescent leaves. Pearl sprays Austrian crystals and pearl branches accented the headpiece with a full stand-up pouf of beaded illusion creating a halo design.

Miss Shannon Dozier of Andalusia was Maid of Honor. Other attendants were Ms. Deborah Brown, sister of the groom, Miss Destiny Brown, niece of the groom both of Elba, and Miss Lynn Lashley of Sanborn.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns of emerald green moire taffeta. The dresses featured a fitted bodice with short puffed sleeves, full tea length skirts with basque waists. The portrait necklines were accented with white embroidered lace edging that was repeated on the sleeves and waistline. Each wore a single strand of pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of silk apricot tulips complemented by baby's breath and curly silk green foliage.

Little Miss Katie Maddox, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a paper white satin tea length gown. It featured a round yolk edged in Austrian lace and short sleeves. The gathered skirt was also edged in lace. She carried a white basket with delicate silk apricot rosebuds and curly narrow green ribbons. Katie is the daughter of Mike and Tammy Maddox of Dothan.

Master Jay Dismukes, cousin of the groom was ring bearer. He carried a white heart-shaped satin pillow trimmed with miniature flowerettes and narrow green ribbon loops. He wore black velvet knickers with a white formal Peter-Pan shirt, black bow tie, suspenders, and white knee socks. Jay is the son of Bugs and Kathy Dismukes of Panama City Beach.

Mr. Harvel Fuller served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Buddy Clark of Montgomery, Mr. O'Neal Boswell of Birmingham (cousin of the groom), Mr. John Davis of Andalusia (brother of the bride), and Mr. Doug Martin II of Elba.

Serving as ushers were Mr. Gary Brown, Mr. Mike Canley, Mr. Tim Williamson, Mr. Glen Johnson, Mr. Shane Phelps (cousin of the groom), all of Elba. The groom was in a white silver shadow tux, while his attendants were in black tux and ushers in gray tux.

The bride's mother chose a peach lace over bridal satin tea length gown. The sweetheart neckline descended to a V-bank. The long sleeves and hemline were scalloped. Her corsage was of delicate chiffon roses, pearl sprays and lace matching in color.

The groom's mother was fashionable dressed in a mint green silk pristine tea length dress. The long sleeves and the scooped neckline and hem were edged in French embroidered lace. Her matching corsage was accented with miniature flowerettes and silk tulle pouffs.

The many wedding guests were entertained with a lavish reception immediately following the ceremony.

Massive floral arrangements of mixed flowers were placed throughout the reception area along with a large white Easter tree decorated with Easter ornaments.

The wedding cakes held places of prominence on tables dressed in party cloths of lace and satin.

The food tables and flowing fountains held the many delicacies served by Therese Chipman, Vickie McCarthy, Deloris Collins, Sandra Brown, Leigh Caylor, Dawn Plant, Renae Lashley, Monica Tyree, Stacie Jackson, Melanie Autrey, Tammy Stewart and Donna Wagon.

A host of family, special friends and neighbors assisted in this lovely affair.

Mr. Fuller And Miss Davis Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Suzanne Davis and Mr. William Perry Fuller were united in marriage on Saturday evening, April 14, 1990 at 7 P. M. in the First Assembly of God, in Elba.

The ceremony was held in the stately church due to the March 17th flood that left the groom's home church, the imposing Church of Christ, in a devastating condition.

This sacred ceremony was performed by Minister Terry Gurneille, a former minister of Elba Church of Christ. He is now a minister in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Suzanne is the daughter of Ms. Catherine Davis of Andalusia, Al. and Mr. Ronnie Davis of Elba. Perry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvel Fuller of Elba.

Flickering hurricane lamps recessed on the church steps giving a glow to the white satin bows and greenery that complemented the handrails.

Under the tall decorative window hung a cluster of white lace wedding bells interspersed with Lilies of the Valley, apricot flowerettes, baby's breath, and greenery. A large white bow and flowing streamers added beauty.

Entering the Narthex, the wedding decor was enhanced by the Easter theme. The tables on either side held decorative white baskets, dressed in ribbons and lace, filled with Easter ornaments. A white Easter egg tree added to the decor.

Top Ten Epilogue

By Matt Morrow & Chad Tindol
Dear fans (assuming there are some),
Back in January we decided to start this column as a vent for our somewhat silly view on life. Through the times of an overbearing sponsor who didn't hold the same view of humor we did, we still wrote.

As a result of our writing, we would like to apologize to the following:
* To Mrs. Helms, for trying to print things she wouldn't.
* To our fans, who never got to see them.

* To our mothers, whom we have embarrassed.
* To the state of California, for the earthquake.
* To George Bush, for his receding hairline.

* To Bill Curry, for thinking he's a goof.
* To Delisa, for her lyme disease.
* And last (but not least) to the City Council, for causing that person to steal the Welcome to Elba sign on the Kinston Hwy. However, congratulations (and his own personal Top Ten) are in order. We dedicate this, our final Top Ten, to our biggest fan (whoever you are).
The final category: Top 10 things we would like to say to the person who took the Welcome to Elba sign on the Kinston Hwy.
10. Thanks.

1. Would you like that in cash or money order.
2. Congratulations.
3. Why didn't you call us?
4. Thanks again.
5. Did you get credit for community service hours?
6. Why did you want it?
7. Can we chip in for the lighter fluid?
8. Did we forget to thank you.
9. There's 4 more.

For All Our Yesterdays, Today's, and Tomorrows

By Katie R. Hodge

The past few days have been full of remembering and thinking back to all the times we've shared together. We've been to Senior parties where we were asked to tell our most embarrassing moments in school, the funniest thing we remember and other memories. In many ways, though we will be taking tests, participating, and all in all too busy to think, this week will be one of the fullest weeks in our lives, as far as looking back and forward goes. We are secure in our thoughts of the past and all our special, light little memories. Perhaps this is one reason why so much remembering goes on at this time of year. We are perfectly aware and sure of the happenings of the past thirteen years.

We are full of thoughts of yesterday's, today's and tomorrow's. For many this is an emotional time. Others will like nothing more than to leave and never look back. But will this truly make them happy? We have caps, gowns, tassels, and the seniors have received their autograph pages for the yearbook. It's all over except for the ceremony. We're busy with parties, baccalaureate, and plans for the weekend, but maybe it's the perfect time to think about all these people we're sharing this time with. We all write "Keep in touch," and we mean it, but it is up to us and only us to keep that promise. Every one knows about former graduates who were best friends for years, then they graduated and saw each other at reunions or when they bumped into each other at Christmas. It's up to all of us to make ourselves different. I think all would agree that too much has been shared to let ourselves leave and never look back. But will this truly make them happy? We have caps, gowns, tassels, and the seniors have received their autograph pages for the yearbook. It's all over except for the ceremony. We're busy with parties, baccalaureate, and plans for the weekend, but maybe it's the perfect time to think about all these people we're sharing this time with. E.H.S. Seniors Attend Shakespeare Festival

By Millie Lott

In the early morning of May 1st 1990, the Advanced English Classes of Elba High School loaded a bus headed to Montgomery, AL, to attend the Alabama Shakespeare Festival. It had been a long awaited treat of the Senior Class one that they thought they might not get to enjoy.

The two hour trip up was spent talking and cutting up. The groups chaperones Mrs. Judith Tucker and Mrs. Margaret Calhoun joined in the fun. Mr. Hal Berry the driver had more important things to deal with.

Being one of the first groups there we had to chance to enjoy some art works on display at the festival.

The performance of Macbeth was a very enjoyable. We could not have asked for better seating arrangements.

The classes had previously read the play and pretty much knew what was happening. It is the story of a Scottish General who let his desire for power and greed get the better of him.

After the performance the group enjoyed lunch at the Montgomery Mall. To prepare for the journey home.

This program was made possible (in part) by a grant from the Alabama State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

The Troy State University Jazz Ensemble recently performed a short concert in the Zion Chapel High School gymnasium.

This Jazz Ensemble is one of only two at Troy State. This particular jazz band performs around the area; whereas, the other performs only one spring concert at Troy. The members of this band are mostly music majors and advanced players of musical instruments. They are also in the symphonic band. Before being accepted into the jazz band an audition must be performed in front of the director, Mr. Ralph Ford. Scott

Yielding, a senior music major at TSU and the band's keyboard player, is the substitute director while Mr. Ford is unavailable. This was the jazz band's last performance of the year.

The 45 minute concert consisted of a variety of jazz style music. They played a couple of jazz "oldies" and a few modern, contemporary pieces. A couple of the band members who were familiar to the ZCHS Band were Mitch Bouington and Kent Morrow. Kent helped the percussion section several times throughout their award-winning season. They were also two of the many soloists who performed during the concert.

The End

By Tina Coleman

At the beginning of the school year, Mr. Carley hit the yearbook staff with a "Big One". He wanted us to take over the "Tiger Tales" page of the newspaper and none of us knew anything about doing it.

After we took it on, we realized there was alot of responsibility to it. The staff wrote most of the articles but when we were running tight, the teachers would pitch in and help. Taking pitchers was fun, but developing them was another thing - Mr. Fern Cox took that on and always came through for us. The one who really headed everything up was Mrs. Helms. She was like our "corner stone". Never would she step in the spotlight and take credit for everything but without her none of this would have been possible. She pushed everybody to write articles and come up with fresh ideas - as well as keeping up the yearbook work. This was a difficult year and though under the circumstances it would have been easy for us to give up the newspaper and yearbook - she wouldn't let us.

We, the editors, along with the staff would like to thank the teachers, Mrs. Baker, Mr. Cox, our readers and especially Mrs. Helms for everything.

VIEWS FROM THE PRESSBOX

BY RICKY MULARZ

Elba may be just a small town with a population of only about 4,500; however, it seems like wherever you go you always run into one of your fellow townspeople! My family took a long weekend last Friday through Sunday up in the Smoky Mountains and during the course of seeing the mountains found ourselves atop Clingman's Dome, some 6,000 feet above sea level. We made it to the scenic spot atop the mountain, not without some aching muscles, and after coming back down heard someone yell "Ricky Mularz, what are you doing here?"

Well, like I said, also at the mountain was Steven and Billie Harelson, both Elba natives, who were also on a mini-vacation. We both exchanged disbelief at running into each other and then went back to sight-seeing. By the way, they didn't make it to the top!

DIXIE YOUTH TO CHANGE ALL-STAR SELECTION PROCESS

When the Elba Dixie Youth Baseball League wraps up play this Thursday night it will take a week off to choose the members of this year's All-Star team. In the past the coaches all sat down and voted for the league's top 13 players, but many times the coaches weren't all that familiar with the players on the other teams and some good players got left off. A change isn't always good, but this season a change was proposed and approved by the coaches. Here is how the All-Stars will be selected...Each coach will nominate up to six players from their team and all players nominated will attend a try-out camp next week at the ballpark. Half the players will try-out on Monday night and the other half on Tuesday night. After the initial try-out sessions, the coaches will meet and narrow the list of players down. Try-outs will then be held for the remainder of the week and by the end of the week the coaches will decide on the final squad.

There are drawbacks to the new system, like taking a week off during the season; however, this way each coach will get to put his favorite players on the initial squad and then watch during the try-out sessions to see how well the players stack up. It is hoped that by using this method the very best team possible will represent Elba in sub-District competition.

SENIOR BABE RUTH CHANGES TO DIXIE MAJORS

Elba has been fielding a Senior Babe Ruth team for years and has competed against Andalusia and Ory, then picked an All-Star squad and sent the squad to the state tourney. All went well for many years; however, last year the teams at the state tourney assumed total financial responsibility during their stay and the cost of putting 18 folks up for a week was simply too much to handle.

This year the same system was adopted and Elba had no choice but to drop out of the Senior Babe Ruth program and join the ranks of Dixie Majors. The Dixie Majors program in south Alabama includes several one-team leagues, like Elba, and the teams compete during the summer and then meet at a District tourney to decide the district representative at the state tourney. At state, the teams are housed at a hotel and the only cost is for any food the players might want after the many special feasts sponsored at the event.

I am the District Commissioner for Babe Ruth Baseball and it was like slapping myself in the face to drop out of the Senior BR League and join Dixie Majors; however, it is all for the kids and this seemed like the only route to go if the kids players (16-18) were to get a chance to play ball during the summer. We'll give it a chance and weigh the outcome at the end of the season!

IN CLOSING...

I'd like to remind the parents, coaches and fans that youth sports is just that - "Youth Sports"; and is for the kids. Most of the people who go to the games to a super job of helping the kids have fun, but lately it seems like some of the fans, parents and coaches are putting winning above all the rest. I like to win just as bad, if not worse, than most folks, but the key is for the kids to have fun and that isn't possible if older people are putting added pressure on every game and yelling across the field at each other. C'mon folks, let's watch the kids and try to copy them!!!!

TO THE PEOPLE OF COFFEE COUNTY:

First of all thanks to God for giving me the strength to get up at 3:00 many mornings and travel throughout the county seeking support. I have gone to many places, such as, coffee shops, restaurants, the county jail, and public businesses throughout the county. I have enjoyed meeting and making new friends in the county. I would like to thank my family, campaign manager, friends, and all the people in the cities and communities for welcoming me when visiting them. I wanted to be involved, and I wanted to be the people's sheriff. Unfortunately, I did everything I wanted to do except win.

Again thanks to all those who supported me. I would like to extend my congratulations to Mr. Brice Paul for his victory.

PASTOR'S CORNER

By Larry Doster
New Haven Baptist Church

What Is The Gospel?

Romans 1:16
It has always seemed that this text of Scripture shines like a star in the midnight darkness of this chapter. It is the description of the human heart, and especially of the unregenerate heart.

Yet, here in the midst of all the darkness, we find a perfect gem of a statement. The apostle's eyes must have flashed as he dictated it; his face must have flushed; his fingers must have twitched nervously as he realized the power of it.

A question whether there has been a stronger statement than this: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ."

I think the best reason for the apostle's using the expression is that he knew it was the power that would overcome sin. He knew that by the Gospel story the slave of sin would be set free. He knew that the man blinded with passion would be given freedom.

There is music in the very sound of the word, "Gospel." It means "good news." It is good news to the man who, for years, has been blinded by skepticism. It is good news for the man who thinks he is hopeless. It is the greatest news the sinning world has ever heard, and the lost man has never received.

The text is marvelous in its words. First, take the word "Gospel." Sometimes we hear people say that all a minister needs to do is preach the simple Gospel. There is no such thing as a "simple Gospel."

The Gospel is the greatest conception of truth the world has ever heard. The Gospel is the story that makes all the angels in Heaven stand in wonderment. The Gospel is the story that all the saints in Glory will sing about. There is no such thing as a "simple Gospel." It is the most wonderful story that we could ever hear.

The next word is this: "Christ." "Christ" is the anointed Name; "Jesus" is His earthly Name. "Christ" is the Name that will make all the saints in Glory sing praises unto Him Who has redeemed us by His own precious blood.

The next word in the verse that causes us to stop and think is "Power." "For it is the power of God unto Salvation to every one that believeth." It is the power of God; nothing can stand before it, and I care not what may be your condition in sin, nor what may be your position in doubt, if you give this Gospel a fair chance it will break the fetters of sin, and drive away the gloom of doubt.

The next word is "Salvation." "It is the power of God unto Salvation." There is a threefold salvation in II Cor. 1:10: Who delivered us from so great a death, and does deliver in whom we trust that He will deliver us.

So, if you should ask me, "Are you saved?" and I would say, "I have been saved," that would be a Scriptural answer. And if you should ask me again, "Are you saved?" and I would say, "I am being saved," my answer would still be Scriptural.

But if you should ask me again, "Are you saved?" and I should answer, "I shall be saved," it would be just as Scriptural as my first two replies.

For I have been saved from the penalty of sin; I am being saved from the power of sin; and I shall one day be saved from the presence of sin.

Salvation is a marvelous word. Salvation comes because of the death of Jesus and our acceptance of Him. So the Gospel means a great deal more today than some would think.

It is the only Hope this generation has. That's why the Gospel is THE Good News.
